HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL.

The first State Normal School in the United States was established at Lexington, Mass., in 1839, and placed under the care of Cyrus Pierce ; it was transferred in 1844 to West Newton. In May, 1852, the State Board of Education adopted certain resolutions relating to a necessary increase in the accommodations for the school, and invited the cities and towns of Massachusetts to make proposals of sites for the location of a new building.

In August, 1852, at a gathering in Salem of the pupils and friends of Charles Northend, to tender to him a parting testimonial of their respect and esteem, the Hon. Charles W. Upham, Mayor of Salem, referred to a meeting with the Governor and other members of the Board of Education, as they were returning from the examination of the site offered by Framingham for the erection of a building for the Normal School, and said, "Why has not Salem made proposals? Her position is favorable and her railroad facilities accommodate a large part of the population of the State." As the suggestion was favorably received by those present, the City Government soon held, at the request of the mayor, a consultation with the directors of the Eastern Railroad Corporation, and the mayor was authorized to offer proposals for the location of the Normal School in Salem, similar to those offered by Framingham and the Boston and Worcester Railroad.

The Board of Education, at its meeting in December, 1852, accepted the proposals from Framingham, but voted to recommend to the Legislature the establishment of a Normal School in Essex County.

According to the suggestion of the Board, the following resolves were passed and approved April 16, 1853:—

Resolved, That the Board of Education be, and they are hereby authorized to establish a state normal school at some suitable place in the county of Essex, and that the sum of six thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated, from the proceeds of the public lands or the school fund, according to the provisions of the act of the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, chapter 219, to defray the expense of providing a site, of erecting or purchasing a suitable building and furnishing the necessary appurtenances and apparatus for said school; and that the same be expended for that purpose under the direction of the Board of Education; upon whose requisition the governor is hereby authorized to draw his warrants upon the treasury to the amount aforesaid.

Resolved, That the Board of Education be and they are hereby authorized to purchase and receive grants of lands, in the name of the Commonwealth, and in suitable quantity for the site of said building and the accommodation of said school; and that, before selecting said site, they be directed to receive propositions from towns or individuals in said county of Essex, in aid of the object of these resolves, and afterward to make such selection as will in their opinion best subserve the interests and accommodate the wants of said school.

Resolved, That the sum of three thousand dollars, in addition to the sums already appropriated for that purpose, be appropriated annually, for two years from the first day of January next, to the support of the state normal schools, under the direction of the Board of Education, the said amount to be taken from the proceeds of the public lands or the school fund, according to the provisions of the act of the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, chapter 219, and that the governor be authorized to draw his warrants on the treasury accordingly. [Approved by the Governor, April 13, 1853.]

At its meeting, April 18, 1853, the Board of Education appointed a committee to receive proposals and examine sites for the new State Normal School in Essex County, established by the resolves of April 16, 1853.

Proposals were received from Salem, North Andover, Groveland, and Chelsea. The sites were examined, and the committee reported the results of the examination at a meeting held June 2, 1853. "The Board, after a careful and impartial examination of the claims of the several localities, decided on Salem as the most accessible, nearly central as to population, and offering facilities for the improvement of the pupils by its schools and its literary and scientific advantages, surpassed by those of few towns in the Commonwealth."

The city of Salem furnished the site, formerly occupied for the Registry of Deeds, at the corner of Summer and Broad streets; erected thereon a brick building two stories high and sixty-seven feet square; furnished the same to the satisfaction of the Board; and received therefor the sum of six thousand dollars, appropriated by the Legislature for this purpose, and two thousand dollars contributed by the Eastern Railroad Corporation. The cost of the building was about thirteen thousand dollars, exclusive of the site which was estimated at five thousand dollars.

The following is the statement of expenses and receipts:

Expenses.		Receipts.
Building,	$10,500.00	State Appropriation,	$6,000.00
Furniture, etc.,	2,789.30	E. R. R. Contribution,	2,000.00
Land valued at	5,000.00	City of Salem Contrib'n,	10,289.30
<hr/>		<hr/>
$18,289.30		$18,289.30

The building contained on the lower floor, a lecture room and six smaller rooms for library, apparatus, reception room, etc.; on the second floor, a school-room sixty-five by forty feet, four recitation rooms and two smaller rooms, one for the use of the teachers and the other for the deposit of reference books.

Workmen commenced to remove the old building on the third of September, 1853, and on the fourteenth of September, 1854, the new building was dedicated with appropriate exercises, Gov. Washburn presiding and ex-Gov. Boutwell delivering an address.

The school commenced its career with sixty-five pupils under the charge of Mr. Richard Edwards, as principal, assisted by Miss Martha Kingman and, in the following month, by Miss Elizabeth Weston. The enthusiasm and devotion which Mr. Edwards brought to his work insured, from the beginning, the success of the school and soon gave to it an enviable reputation. In September, 1857, he resigned his position to become principal of a normal school in St. Louis, Mo. He was succeeded October 29, 1857, by Prof. Alpheus Crosby, well known as a ripe scholar and thorough instructor.

During Prof. Crosby's administration, in the year 1860, the school-house was much improved by the raising of the roof and the construction of a partial third story which furnished rooms for library, cabinet, apparatus, etc., thus leaving several rooms in the first story to be used for recitations.

Prof. Crosby served as principal with great success and fidelity until September, 1865, a period of eight years, when he resigned his position in order to assume other important duties. By his constant care and devotion to his work, he stimulated in his pupils a desire to seek for a high standard of moral, intellectual, and spiritual attainments.

He was succeeded by Mr. Daniel B. Hagar, "in whom are combined the scholarship, energy, and experience which will insure the usefulness of the school and maintain the high reputation it has achieved under its former principals."

The number of pupils in the school having largely increased, the principal, in his report to the Board of Education, in 1869, made such a representation of the wants of the school, that the Board applied to the Legislature for an appropriation of $25,000 to provide for the cost of enlarging the schoolhouse. The application was granted and the work of enlargement was begun in August, 1870, the school occupying meanwhile the lower story of the City High School building, the use of which had been freely granted by the city authorities. The school returned to the Normal School building in June, 1871, the enlargement having been completed, with the exception of three small rooms in the third story which were completed the following year.

The building, as enlarged, is ninety-five by sixty-seven feet, consists of three stories covered with Mansard roof and with a tower at the Broad street end. The first story contains a reception room, five recitation rooms, and three dressing rooms; the second story consists of the school room (which has seats for 210 pupils), the principal's room, the assistant teachers' room, the reference-book room, and two recitation rooms; the third story includes the library room, the cabinet and drawing room, the chemical room and laboratory, the philosophical room, the text-book room, and two recitation rooms. The tower contains one room which is designed for astronomical uses; in it is a valuable telescope, purchased from the voluntary contributions of many graduating classes.

The grounds belonging to the school are very small, extending but a few feet beyond the building.

OBJECT OF THE SCHOOL.

This Institution was established by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for the direct preparation of Female Teachers to instruct in the Common and High Schools required by law.

OFFICERS OF THE SCHOOL.

It is at present, June, 1887, under the charge of the following officers and instructors :—

SCHOOL YEAR AND TERMS.

The School Year is divided into two terms, each containing nineteen weeks of study, with a week's recess near the middle of each term.

A new class is admitted at the beginning of each term.

ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission must be at least sixteen years of age; must present on the day of examination a satisfactory certificate of good moral character and of their presumed qualifications for admission to the school; must declare their full intention of faithfully observing the regulations of the School, during their connection with it, and of afterwards teaching in the public schools of Massachusetts; and must pass a satisfactory examination in Reading, Spelling, Defining, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography, and the History of the United States. A greater age and higher attainments than those prescribed, with some experience in teaching, render the course of study in the institution still more useful.

Especial attention should be given to these requirements, as they will be STRICTLY ENFORCED.

An examination for admission takes place on the first day of each term, commencing at 8 o'clock, A. M., or as soon after that hour as candidates can reach Salem.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The Board of Education have prescribed the following branches of study for the two years' course in the Normal Schools of the State.

Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, Book-keeping; Physics, Astronomy, Chemistry, Botany, Physiology, Zoology, Mineralogy, Geology, Geography; Reading, Orthography, Etymology, Grammar, Rhetoric, Literature, Composition; Penmanship, Drawing, Singing, Gymnastics; Psychology, Science and Art of Teaching, School Organization, History of Education; Civil Polity of Massachusetts and of the United States, School Laws of Massachusetts, and History.

The order in which these studies are taken has been varied from time to time by the decision of the Principal of the School and its approval by the Board of Visitors.

The following additional studies are assigned for the four years' course:

Advanced Physics, Advanced Chemistry, Higher Mathematics (including Plane and Solid Geometry, Higher Algebra, and Trigonometry), General History, Latin, and French; Greek or German, in addition, is optional with the Principal and Board of Visitors of each school.

ADVANCED COURSE.

Graduates of the regular course who desire to prepare themselves for the higher departments of teaching, are permitted to take an advanced course, which occupies two years, and includes instruction and training in the Latin, French, and German languages, the higher mathematics, and the other branches required to be taught in the high schools of Massachusetts. Graduates of the School who may desire to take the Advanced Course are requested to communicate with the Principal as early as possible. A new class is formed at the beginning of each Fall term.

AIMS AND METHODS OF STUDY AND TRAINING.

The ends chiefly aimed at in this school are, the acquisition of the necessary knowledge of the Principles and Methods of Education, and of the various branches of study, the attainment of skill in the art of teaching, and the general development of the mental powers.

From the beginning to the end of the course, all studies are conducted with especial reference to the best ways of teaching them. Recitations, however excellent, are not deemed satisfactory, unless every pupil is able to teach others that which she has herself learned. In every study the pupils in turn occupy temporarily the place of teacher of their classmates, and are subjected to their criticisms as well as those of their regular teacher. Teaching exercises of various kinds form a large and important part of the school work. During the Senior term object lessons are given to classes of primary school children, so that every pupil obtains, before graduating, considerable experience in teaching children to observe, think, and give expression to thought.

The studies are conducted upon the topical plan. Text-books are used, to a large extent, as books of reference. The committing of text-books to memory is avoided as far as possible, the scholars being trained to depend upon thoughts rather than words.

The great object of instruction in the school is to make the pupils investigate, think, and speak for themselves; to make them independent, self-reliant, and ready to meet whatever difficulties may arise.

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline of the school is made as simple as possible. Pupils are expected to govern themselves; to do without compulsion what is required, and to refrain voluntarily from all improprieties of conduct. Those who are unwilling to conform cheerfully to the known wishes of the Principal and his assistants, are presumed to be unfit to become teachers.

It is not deemed necessary to awaken a feeling of emulation, in order to induce the scholars to perform their duties faithfully. The ranking of scholars according to their comparative success in their studies, is not here allowed. Faithful attention to duty is encouraged for its own sake, not for the purpose of obtaining certain marks of credit.

PROMOTIONS AND GRADUATIONS.

Promotions from one class to another are made at the close of each term by means of thorough written examinations. These examinations include every study pursued during the term, and the result in each study must be satisfactory to entitle the pupil to advance to the study next in order. In the Senior term a special examination is had in all the branches taught in the common schools, and only those who pass it successfully are permitted to graduate. Young ladies who possess good natural abilities and right habits of study, find no serious difficulties in passing the required examinations.

LIBRARIES.

The general library, a large part of which was contributed by Prof. Crosby, contains more than five thousand volumes. It is well supplied with works in English literature, in history, biography, travels, and on mental and physical science. The library of text-books, which are furnished to the scholars without charge, contains more than three thousand volumes.

THE CABINET.

The Cabinet contains several thousand specimens, illustrating the various departments of natural science, especially geology, mineralogy, and natural history. For most of these specimens, the school is indebted to Prof. Crosby.

LABORATORIES.

The school is furnished with a convenient laboratory for the use of the teacher and with a room which contains admirable arrangements whereby a large number of students can, at the same time, perform chemical experiments free from all danger, arising from the inhaling of injurious gas.

APPARATUS.

A moderate amount of apparatus, designed to illustrate various branches of study, belongs to the school.

ART-ROOM.

A room has been handsomely fitted up and furnished for the purpose of affording facilities for instruction and training in the higher departments of drawing. A large number of beautiful casts, models, and patterns have been obtained from London, and have been conveniently arranged in the room, thus giving to the members of the school advantages not formerly enjoyed.

ESSEX INSTITUTE AND PEABODY ACADEMY OF SCIENCE.

The important advantages offered by these well-known and most useful Institutions are freely enjoyed by members of the Normal School. The large, and in some respects, unequalled

Museum and Cabinet belonging to the Institute and Academy, affords rare opportunities for studies in various departments of Science; and the instructive meetings of the Essex Institute for the discussion of Historical and Scientific subjects, possess great value for all who are interested in the study of History and of Nature.

EXPENSES.

Tuition is free to those who comply with the condition of teaching in the public Schools of Massachusetts, wherever they may have previously resided.

Ladies designing to teach in other States or in private schools may be admitted by paying $15 a term for tuition.

A small fee ($2.00) is paid by each pupil at the beginning of the term, for incidental expenses.

The price which is paid by the pupils for board, (not usually including washing, or separate fire and lights,) varies from $3 to $4 per week, according to the accommodations furnished. Pupils who prefer to board themselves can obtain good rooms for about one dollar a week.

Pupils who come to the school daily by railroads, obtain season tickets at one-half of the usual rates.

AID.

For the assistance of those who find even the moderate expenses of the School burdensome, the Commonwealth makes an annual appropriation. This aid is distributed at the close of each term, among pupils from Massachusetts who merit and need the aid, in sums varying according to the distance of their residences from Salem, but not exceeding in any case $1.50 per week. In this distribution, the first term of a pupil's connection with the School is not reckoned, unless she enters prepared to complete the prescribed course of study in less than two years.

Aid is also rendered, in cases of special merit and need, from the income of the fund of Five Thousand Dollars, for which the School is indebted to the munificent bequest of NATHANIEL I. BOWDITCH, Esq., of Brookline.

PUPILS.

The number of pupils that have entered the school is three thousand two hundred forty-three, of whom one thousand five hundred and sixty-eight have graduated from the regular course and ninety-five from the advanced course.

WORK DONE BY THE PUPILS.

A large majority of the graduates of the school have engaged in teaching, and satisfactory evidence of their success has been obtained. The demand for such teachers has exceeded the supply.

From returns received from past members of the school, it appears that, of those reporting, the members of the classes from the first through the fifth have taught an average of nine and a half years; of the classes from the fifth through the twentieth, of eight years; of the classes from the twenty-first through the thirtieth, of six years. Many of those belonging to the earlier classes have taught in Massachusetts more than twenty years.

More than three-fourths of those reporting have taught in common schools, while the remaining ones have been employed in colleges, academies, seminaries, high schools, normal schools, kindergartens, schools for deaf-mutes, and private schools.

Several of the graduates have continued their studies after leaving school and have received degrees from colleges, universities, and theological seminaries, and are now doing good work as professors in colleges, physicians, and clergymen.
